Government Refuses to Accept Hinton Site for Building.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of Saturday says:

Attorney-General Bonaparte yesterday instructed District Attorney J. H. Tinsley not to pay J. T. Hinton and others $8,000 for the site at Paris, Ky., as recommended by the commissioners appointed to value the property. It was the intention of the Government to build a Federal building to cost about $45,000.

From this it looks as if Paris will be some time in getting its public building. It looks like Paris is always "twenty minutes late" in regard to anything of this kind for in the same column that the above item is taken from Tinsley is ordered to pay $8,000 for a site for a building at Catlettburg.

Accepts Call To Kansas City.

Rev. Dr. Burris A. Jenkins, who was for several years President of Kentucky University at Lexington, and who was forced to go West for his health, has been called to the pastorate of the Edgewood Christian church at Kansas City, and will enter upon the duties of this new charge Sunday, September 15.

Few Christian ministers are more widely known than Dr. Jenkins. He has been spending his time for several months at San Antonio, Tex. where he regained his health.

Looks As If Asleep.

Sitting beside a tree in Gibson's woods, near Lexington, with his legs crossed and apparently enjoying a nap, Toliver Morton, a well-known young man, was found Sunday morning, cold in death. Beside him lay an ounce vial half filled with morphine, showing the method of self-destruction.

Morton had a wife and three babies, and no motive can be assigned for his rash act. He resided on Walton avenue, Lexington, and the scene of his death is several miles from home.

Remarkable Tobacco Sale.

Probably the most remarkable sales of tobacco in the history of the Louisville breaks was reported yesterday. It was announced that the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company had disposed of all save 1,500 hogheads of the 8,000-hoghead lot of dark Green river crop of 1905, stored by the Greenville branch of the American Society of Equity.

Top price was also received for the tobacco, as it was held until the purchasers came to the terms fixed by the Green river people. The leaf brought from $10 to $10.50 while the lugs and trash ranged from $6.50 to $6.75 per hundred.

When averaged at $10 per hoghead, the total amount involved in the sale is nearly $700,000, which is the largest sum as well as the largest consignment of tobacco ever handled in a Kentucky deal.

Sheridan's Double Marriage.

It was in 1857 that the Gretna Green marriages were made illegal. A glance at its registers may yet inspire the novelist of the future. One entry will be sure to puzzle. Twice within a few days occurs the record of the marriage of Richard Brinsley Sheridan to Miss Grant. There was only one R. B. S., only one bride for the same gentleman. The double entries are not the result of any blunder on the part of the Rev. Mr. Vulcan. The parties were really twice married at Gretna Green. Arriving on a Sunday they were duly wedded, and sped away to Edinburgh. There, however, Sheridan chanced to glance at a newspaper in which appeared the lucubrations of a lawyer. In these plainly stated was the fact that no contract executed on a Sunday is binding. Clearly, then, their wedding was not legal. Back to Gretna Green they scurried, to be remarried on a week day and leave the dual record to perplex later generations of sympathetic searchers of the records.—St. James' Gazette.

The Buzzard In Flight.

There can be no doubt that the buzzard is the living aeroplane in perfection. It cannot sail against the wind except as other birds do—by sheer power of moving wings—but it can sail at amazing speed before the wind, at right angles to the wind and can sail within a few points of the wind.

When there is no wind its flight is clumsy—not much of an improvement on the flying of a hen. Authors are wont to describe the buzzard as sailing in the sky on days when the earth perspires beneath a sultry, still atmosphere. But it will also be remembered that these authors invariably describe the buzzard as being "a speck in the brassy heavens." As a matter of fact, that is just the point of the buzzard's aerial knowledge. When there is no breeze close to the earth it is always to be observed roosting in a tree or flying laboriously into the zenith until it finds an upper current, where it can navigate without labor.—New York Times.

Bones and Their Places.

It was a colloquy at a north side butcher's shop. "Oh," said the little woman, "that's an awful big bone in that small steak. I don't like to have to pay for all bone."

"Yes'm," said the butcher politely, but with a touch of irony in his answer, "that do seem to be a good deal of bone, but the animals what's comin' to this market now seems to have more or less bone in 'em. And really as animals is built now I don't see how they can get along without bones."

"That may all be true," said the little woman, and there was a wicked twinkle in her eye, "but this morning I found a good sized bone in the sausage, and I leave it to you, honest now, don't you think that is going a little too far?"

And the butcher could not say a word in reply.—Indianapolis News.

Incidental Music.

One afternoon a couple from an adjoining town presented themselves to a Boston divine and asked to be married just as he was about to enter the pulpit to conduct an afternoon service. The minister replied that he regretted that he could not at that moment comply with their wish, but that immediately upon the conclusion of the service he would take pleasure in performing the ceremony. The lovers after demurring seated themselves in the rear of the church. When the minister had finished the service he made the following announcement: "The parties who are to be joined in matrimony will present themselves at the chancel immediately after the singing of hymn 415, 'Mistaken Souls That Dream of Heaven!'"—Exchange.

Hold-UP Man Captured.

Deputy Sheriff W. F. Talbott captured Dan Anderson, a negro, wanted on the charge of robbing Charles Brown of $10.00 and landed him in jail. Anderson had been engaged to assist in harvesting by John Brown, a farmer residing on the Georgetown pike, who sent his son, Charles, 18 years old, to town money with which to pay the hands. It was agreed the boy should leave the amount of $2.25, due Anderson, at the grocery of Robert Link, which he did, and then about dusk started for his home. He was met near the farm of John B. Kennedy by two masked negroes who relieved him of his money and then at the point of the pistol compelled him to drive them to Georgetown the boy arriving back home at midnight.

Anderson, when arrested, stoutly denied the charge. He was taken before Judge Dundon who placed his bail bond at $500, in default of which he was sent to jail.
